

Finding the Caithnessities

Objects from all over Caithness, both past and present, have been scattered throughout the museum. They are now lost in the wrong places! Help us find them.

	A prize from the Kildonan Gold-Rush of 1869 got stuck at a royal visit to Dounreay.
	One of the deer hopping across the meadows hopped right into the flat iron.
	A man recruited by the Seaforth Highlanders took the wrong boat.
	A car driving along the North Coast 500 ended up with the Picts, now lacking a solid road.
	One of the lighthouses dotting the coasts is now dotting the Flow Country.
	A fossil was seen near the console.
	The cow once grazing in the field is now grazing with the fishermen.
	A poor puffin ended up in the wrong nest.
