The screenshot shows the Oxford Reference website interface. At the top right, it says "Personal Profile: Sign in or Create". The main header features the "Oxford Reference" logo and a search bar. Below the header is a navigation bar with "Subject" and "Reference Type" dropdown menus, and "My Content (0)" and "My Searches (0)" links. The main content area is divided into several sections:

- High Life Highland: Search your library's resources, with a "Sign out" button.
- Sign in to an additional subscriber account: A dropdown menu.
- Answers With Authority: A section featuring a book cover titled "Oxford Reference Answers with Authority" and the website URL www.oxfordreference.com. Below this, there are links for "Discover the best of Oxford University Press's reference titles on a dynamic digital platform", "Browse & search entries", "Browse & search books", and "Show books in my subscription".
- EXPLORE BY SUBJECT: A large section with a teal background and the text "Discover the breadth of Oxford Reference's publishing by learning more about the titles and experts behind each distinct discipline. Select a panel to begin your research journey." This section is surrounded by a grid of various images representing different subjects.
- FEATURED BLOG POST: A section titled "China and India Set to Dominate the 21st Century" with the text "Asia's fortunes are undoubtedly rising. Driving these dynamics are the region's two largest countries – China and India – whose mounting international standing are contributing to their evermore significant influence upon global politics..." and a "Read more >" link. The year "2019" is displayed to the right.
