

Within this world there are only two distinct categories of humans, Warriors and Wizards. Although I am considered a wizard, my physical power was unrivalled. After a long day of training, I headed back to my home but I heard a distressed shriek. Unexpectedly, a monumental fire erupted ahead of me. I staggered back from the flame and it kept expanding. Immediately a gigantic figure materialised within the flames... It was a demon.

"Run!" I thought, "Run far away and don't look back! I ran as fast as I could, but as I looked at the demon, its horrifying eyes stared into my soul.

"Help!" cried a girl, "Help!"

Slowly, the demon turned its head towards her. "She's going to get devoured!" I thought to myself, It felt like two people were arguing inside of me...

"Run!"

"She's going to die."

"It doesn't matter!"

"You can face it."

How can I?" Instantly, I charged towards the creature. I carried the woman away from the menacing grasp of the creature. As I carefully placed the girl on the ground, I looked up, my eyes filled with rage. Suddenly the demon seemed powerless as if it was scared. Then I heard a voice "Demon of death." I started to feel light-headed and fell on the ground. I am a demon...

My idol, Valour, had observed the battle and had recognised my powers. Valour had two apprentices: Kompo and Sina, they were the perfect pair. Kompo had the power of thunder and Sina defended Kompo, the shield and the spear. My magical power hasn't been discovered yet. For Two whole years we trained and I kept my terrible secret. We all desired the extinction of demons from existence, including me. I heard thunder bursting and I ran as fast as I possibly could to the noise. I turned the corner to see a monstrous demon appeared. I saw Sina collapsed on the ground and Valour was there trying his absolute hardest to assassinate the demon with the assistance of Kompo. Sprinting to Sina, I threw my arms out to save her from the approaching demon.

"I can't make it!"

Immediately, I unleashed an astronomical inferno at the monster. I melted the demon's limbs with phenomenal force, It felt...entertaining. I didn't want to stop... I couldn't stop. Finally, I blasted an enormous barrage of flames, scorching the demon to ashes. The demon was gone, but It felt too good. I slowly turned around to face Valour, I was enjoying myself. My demon part of me was taking over and it was coming to kill everyone. Preparing to unleash an attack, I felt a warm hand hold me. It was Sina holding me. Begging me to stop. "Please!" she yelled, "the enemy is gone!" I collapsed to the ground and fell into a deep sleep. Three whole days I rested until I opened my eyes and I saw Sina. She cried loudly while hugging me, Kompo arrived and burst with joy. Valour swore for demons to never see daylight again but one of his closest friends was a demon himself. "Anteto, although you are a demon, I still think of you as one of my own." My secret was safe.