

Matt's Secret

One-day Matt played on his gaming console. While he played it he pushed a button and the gaming console opened! He went inside, and he appeared in the game that had been playing. He turned into the character that he was when Matt played it. He had a sword!

Matt watched the door of the gaming console slam close behind him. In the game he went to try to finish a level that he had tried and tried to do a lot of times, but had always failed. Now that he is in the game it would hopefully be easier to do it. Matt got to the level and started at the point he could get to, but this time he did it! Then he was really happy. He realized that he needed to go back home because it was nearly dinner time.

Matt went back to where he got in and went through the Passageway and now he was back in his house. His mum thought she saw the secret door through the gaming console but Matt did not.

He went upstairs and mum said, 'I saw the gaming console!' Matt said, 'Don't tell anyone!' and from that day on, nobody ever knew about the gaming console's secret passageway.
